

Be a hero to your family by 7pm tonight...

If your family's anything like mine, you know how getting dinner together can be a chore.

From struggling through meal planning to making sure everyone's satisfied, it's often easier just to eat out. And that's not even mentioning cleanup!

So what's for dinner tonight? Got something already waiting in the fridge? Or maybe you haven't made plans yet and you're figuring you'll scrounge something up later?

What if tonight you were to save you and your spouse some chores (that frozen chicken can wait til tomorrow) and go out to dinner? Nowhere expensive, of course... times are tough. But it needs to be good food and good service.

Picture this...

Imagine walking into a nice Italian place with your family. There's a pleasant buzz of activity as you tell the host how many mouths you're feeding.

After a few minutes you're shown to your table. Bits of paraphernalia from Italy are under the glass tabletop - maps, photos and the like. The server brings your younger children some dough to play with and keep them occupied.

The atmosphere is nice - not too dark, not too loud. The smells coming from the kitchen are enough to make your stomach grumble, and seeing servers carrying plates heaped with steaming food makes you even hungrier.

Before you know it, it's your turn and you're enjoying quality Italian food - fettuccine alfredo... pizza and calzones... lasagne... chicken marsala... eggplant parmesan... perhaps even enjoying a glass of wine with your spouse.

And not once do you worry about the bill.

That's exactly what my family experiences when we go to

Johnny's Italian Restaurant

Located smack in the middle of Pinellas County, Johnny's is easy to get to, and it's always well worth the trip. We actually live within walking distance, and it's nice to take an evening stroll together to have a family meal.

Johnny and his wife, Rosemary, have been a part of our local culture for over 30 years - they routinely give away food to schools and churches for charity - and have been pleasing families just like yours since the very beginning. They focus on being family-friendly; my folks have a lot of food allergies, and they've always been incredibly accommodating.

The recipes themselves come from Johnny's mother, who was born and raised in Italy. Everything (except the pasta) is made from scratch... right down to the dough, the sauces and the salad dressings. The chefs at Johnny's flame sauté their dishes and fry their chicken and veal cutlets with no trans fats, so you get the healthiest Italian around.

We were visiting friends in Palm Harbor who brought us here for dinner. An all-around great experience. Service was terrific even though the place was very busy. Food was delicious with huge portions very reasonably priced. The atmosphere was very cozy. A very nice local family-owned restaurant that does it right. - Linda W, Miamisburg

The food at Johnny's is great, but one thing that stands out in my mind is their famous "Johnny bread." All-you-can-eat loaves of fresh-baked bread, accompanied by a small metal saucer of olive oil, herbs and plenty of garlic. It really is a perfect appetizer - and it comes free with every meal.

Great value for your family

Even if you don't get a chance tonight to go to Johnny's, you could always try their lunch menu. For just $6.55, you can choose from a wide variety of entrees, each coming with a side and salad.

Their dinner menu is just as affordable - you can eat a full, satisfying meal there for just $11 if you want. My family of five can usually eat for around $60. Take into account the fact that we always have enough leftovers for another meal and you've got yourself a deal.

Johnny's is always good; I have NEVER had a bad meal here. Not only is it yummy but they give you great deal of food for what you pay. The Johnny bread is fantastic and I have never had a long wait to be seated. I always know that I will have a good dinner or lunch... no question. If you are looking for a place that doesn't break the bank, has very good food and gives you more than what you pay for... well you found it. - Jenna M, Tampa
